We trust that the persons appointed to attend at the final Canvassing, will be prompt and punctual in the discharge of the duty assigned them; and we also trust that suitable persons will be appointed in all the other Wards for the same purpose. A very large number of names are upon the Registry, whom no one knows anything about, and unless these names are stricken off, the registers will find persons to match the names, when the day of voting arrives.

Under the Secret Ballot Law, it requires proof to strike a name off; and it is, therefore, necessary that we should have persons from all parts of the town, to assist in the matter, and give all the information in their possession in regard to doubtful names.

We are requested to remind those persons whose assessments are not paid to the Providence Mutual Fire Insurance Co., that the time of payment will expire on the 31st of March, after which the expense of collection will be added.

A CHRISTIAN CHINESE EMPEROR.—The Bengal Huskuru states that Tien Toh, the new emperor of China, is a Christian, having been baptized by the late Dr. Gutzlaff.

There is only one week left, during which you can pay your Registry Tax, in order to be qualified to vote during the ensuing political year. Call on the Collector, without delay, and pay your dollar. Attend to this important duty, Whigs, and do not wait for more urging.

THIRTY SECOND CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, March 25.

SENATE.—The Chair presented a communication from the Navy Department, answering the resolution adopted a short time since, relative to mail steamers.

Petitions were presented by Mr. Sumner, of Massachusetts, from citizens of Worcester and Boston in favor of cheap ocean postage.

Mr. Fish, of New York, presented three memorials from citizens of all political parties of New York to Congress, praying them to stand firmly by the principles of Washington's Farewell Address, and to oppose all intervention in the affairs of other Governments.

Mr. Downe reported a bill authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to provide suitable accommodations for the Courts of the United States.

Mr. Brooke introduced a bill granting lands in Louisiana, and Mississippi to certain railroads.

On motion of Mr. Wade, of Ohio, the bill to divide Ohio into two judicial districts, &c., was considered and ordered to be engrossed.

The resolution of Mr. Sumner of Mass., calling upon the Postmaster General for a variety of information was, after a brief explanation, adopted.

The resolution of Mr. Weller, relative to charges against the late Mexican boundary commissioner (himself) was adopted.

The bill, for the establishment of a navy yard at San Francisco was taken up.

House.—Mr. Jones, of Tennessee, asked that the House take up and refer such Senate bills as would not occasion a debate.

Mr. Clingman objected.

The House then, on motion of Mr. Houston, went into committee of the whole, and resumed consideration of the deficient bill.

The trial of W. B. Radcliffe, for the murder of David Rose, at Milwaukee, was brought to a close on Tuesday night, and at 3 o'clock on the following morning the verdict was brought into court. To the infinite astonishment of the large crowd the verdict was "Not Guilty." The Judge looked at the jury five minutes steadily, then eyed the Jury sternly and said:

"Gentlemen of the Jury, is this your verdict? Foreman—'Yes, your honor.' Judge—'All I have to say, if it is so, may God have mercy on your consciences.'

A very great excitement prevailed during Wednesday, and in the afternoon a large public meeting was held in front of the City Hotel. Mr. S. M. Bowditch, the Editor of the Daily Democrat, addressed the meeting, and a series of denunciatory resolutions were passed.

THE FUNERAL OF THOMAS MOORE.

The Irish minstrel was buried March 3d, at the village of Bromham, within a mile of the cottage in which he breathed his last. He was placed, in obedience to his own wish, in the same grave with one of his daughters. The village was crowded with the poor of the neighbourhood, and the rector of the adjacent village came to pay the last tribute of regard to an old friend. But beyond this gentleman and Mr. Longman, the publisher, there were none who had known the poet in life to offer him personal respect in death.—London Times.

A RUM.—A jury-box now in use in the city of Lynn, Mass., has been kept for its present purposes 120 years. The one used in Portsmouth, N. H., was made in the year 1730, and has been in regular use for 122 years.

The Sea Serpent Story, which has been going the rounds of papers, had its origin in the fruitful brain of a gentleman of Burlington, Vt., impelled by a desire to perpetrate a hoax.

It is rumored, says the New York Mirror, that Mrs. Catharine N. Sinclair has determined to quit the theatrical profession.

We trust that the persons appointed to attend at the final Canvassing, will be prompt and punctual in the discharge of the duty assigned them; and we also trust that suitable persons will be appointed in all the other Wards for the same purpose. A very large number of names are upon the Registry, whom no one knows anything about, and unless these names are stricken off, the registers will find persons to match the names, when the day of voting arrives.

Under the Secret Ballot Law, it requires proof to strike a name off; and

3 days later from Europe.

NEW YORK, March 26.

The Countess of Europa arrived about noon to-day from Liverpool, whence she sailed on Saturday, the 13th of March, and to which day inclusive we have London papers.

ENGLAND.

Parliament was again sitting on the evening of Friday, March 19; the second reading of the Parliamentary reconstruction bill, known as the new reform bill, came up as the order of the day, whereupon Lord John Russell said that he had introduced the bill as a Minister of the Crown, but he did not think that as a private Member of the House he could carry it through.

He therefore moved its postponement to that day three months, reserving to himself the option of moving a general resolution on the subject of Parliamentary representation.

In the House of Lords, Lord Lyndhurst deprecated a dissolution of Parliament while so many private bills were before them.

FRANCE.

From France the intelligence is meagre. Respecting the late elections, the Paris correspondent of the London Times, holds the following language writing on the evening of March 11:—

In several instances the Government has been obliged to accept, and adopt as its own, candidates whom it would have gladly excluded, and it dated, from the electoral contest; and the opposition that is now in a state of torpor may soon become endowed with life and movement. But even as the elections have turned out, we may be convinced of the fact by an examination of some of the details of the scrutin. It appears that the element of hostility, or of opposition, has been found to exist far more in the towns than in the country; among the middle classes, the bourgeois, of the cities, than among the inhabitants of the rural districts.

It is not alone by recording their votes that the opposition of the former manifested itself, but by absence from the ballot. In Paris, M. Eugène Sue obtained, more than 7,000 suffrages in an electoral district chiefly inhabited by the operatives, and General Caylaugne 14,000 from the trading classes. The spirit of the conservative and constitutional opposition is shown in the large though insufficient numbers who voted for M. Goudechoux and M. Bixio. At Strasburg, the Government nominee scarcely obtained 4,000 of the 14,000 electors in that city; in Bordeaux 20,000 electors absented themselves, either from indifference or direct opposition; and so close was the contest at Arras, Reims, Nantes, and Lille, that the electoral struggle will have to be gone over again.

All this, showing the existence of an opposition, might diminish the triumph of the Ministerial organs; and should other arbitrary measures, in addition to the powers reserved for itself in the constitution of the empire by the Executive, be resorted to, there is little doubt that it will become still more formidable.

The same folly is enacted respecting the dress of the members of the Corps législatif as was exhibited respecting Senators. The President decries as follows, whether the suggestions are his own or his tailor's, is not said:

The coat is to be blue, and is to be cut straight in front; there is to be a row of nine large gilt buttons down the breast; the buttons to bear the eagle. The collar, cuffs, &c., are to be ornamented with embroidery of oak and olive leaves in gold and silver. The waistcoat is to be white and straight cut, with six buttons of the eagle. The trousers are to be white, with a gold band; the hat is to be of beaver, and ornamented with black feathers. The sword is to be gilt, the hilt in mother-of-pearl, and the guard is to be ornamented with an eagle.

The definitive arming of the fortifications of Paris is going on with considerable activity.

M. Armand Marrast, so long known as the principal editor of the National, and prominent in the revolution of February, died on the 10th inst. He belonged to the moderate republican party.

On the 6th inst. 238 prisoners were set at liberty from Fort Lamalgue, by order of Louis Napoleon. They gave vent to their feelings of gratitude by repeated shouts of "Vive Napoleon!" "Vive le President!"

Mr. Guinard has received an unconditional release from his imprisonment at Doullens.

PRUSSIA

The Prussian Government has appointed a lieutenant of police (Grieß) to be stationed in London for the purpose of watching over the movements of the German refugees there, and reporting to head-quarters theron.

DURHAM, Wednesday, March 10.—The Earl and Countess of Eglington arrived at Dublin this day, shortly before two o'clock, their Excellencies having landed at Kingstown about one o'clock. Lord Eglington rode on horseback, wearing a large shamrock on his breast, and surrounded by a brilliant staff. Lady Eglington followed in a chariot drawn by four horses.

On the arrival of the corlett at the Castle, the ceremony of swearing in was proceeded with, and at its conclusion three volleys of musketry were fired by the troops stationed at College-green.

PLYMOUTH, 12th inst.

The Bosphorus steamer arrived at Penzance to-day; the despatches from Sir Harry Smith have been sent to the War Office.

She brings the account of the termination of the war, and the unconditional surrender of the Caffres.

GENERAL TALCOTT'S CASE.

The efforts of General Talcott and his friends to obtain a reversal of the severe sentence of the Court Martial and President, in his case, last year, by an appeal to Congress, appears to have signally failed. The Military Committee of the Senate have reported against action in the case, with a request to be discharged from the further consideration of his memorial, and the Senate decided there to without debate or objection from any member.

It is reported, says the New York Mirror, that Mrs. Catharine N. Sinclair has determined to quit the theatrical profession.

We trust that the persons appointed to attend at the final Canvassing, will be prompt and punctual in the discharge of the duty assigned them; and we also trust that suitable persons will be appointed in all the other Wards for the same purpose. A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE IS A DANGEROUS THING.

THIS saying has but a partial application. A very little knowledge of the physiology of the hair teaches that want of care deprives many of that most becoming ornament to the person.

Those who would desire to preserve their heads from baldness, cure dandrusses on the scalp, prevent discoloration, and secure a glossiness and softness of texture, should use Bogle's Hyperion Fluid.

Many look upon the process of styling as one which requires a merely mechanical attention to a comical perfectly. It is not so. The conditions which furnish the speediest and easiest accomplishment are a healthy state of the skin, and a hair's breadth to preserve its softness.

Bogle's Amore is the most approved article for softening and smoothing the skin, and imparting to it an elasticity inconsistent with any degree of irritation, or eruptions which follow it. Sold by
